

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method and apparatus are provided for use with a power amplifier for protecting active devices on the power amplifier. A peak detector is used by control
5 circuitry to detect the presence of a peak voltage that exceeds a threshold voltage. In response to the detection of a peak voltage, the gain of the power amplifier is reduced.